Why is YouTube TV charging me? {Customer Help Support}

YouTube TV may charge you because your +1 (866) 381-7244 {US/UK}membership automatically renews at the beginning of each billing cycle until you cancel it. A charge can also occur when a free trial ends and automatically +1 (866) 381-7244 {US/UK}converts to a paid membership, when you have premium +1 (866) 381-7244 {US/UK}add-ons or other subscriptions attached to your account, or when you see a temporary authorization hold rather than a completed payment. If the +1 (866) 381-7244 {US/UK}amount looks higher than expected, taxes or prorated charges +1 (866) 381-7244 {US/UK}for add-on networks can affect the total. You can review your YouTube +1 (866) 381-7244 {US/UK}TV billing history and membership details to +1 (866) 381-7244 {US/UK}identify the exact reason for the charge.

+1 (866) 381-7244

1. Why was I charged after my YouTube TV free trial ended?
YouTube TV free trials automatically +1 (866) 381-7244 {US/UK}convert into paid memberships when the trial period ends unless you +1 (866) 381-7244 {US/UK}cancel beforehand. At that point, YouTube TV +1 (866) 381-7244 {US/UK}charges the standard price for the Base Plan along with any add-on +1 (866) 381-7244 {US/UK}networks you selected. If you believe you canceled before the trial +1 (866) 381-7244 {US/UK}ended but were still charged, you can review your membership +1 (866) 381-7244 {US/UK}status and contact YouTube TV support to request assistance or a refund.

2. Why is my YouTube TV charge higher than expected?
A higher-than-expected charge can have several +1 (866) 381-7244 {US/UK} explanations. You may have added premium networks or +1 (866) 381-7244 {US/UK}other paid add-ons, which can increase your monthly bill. +1 (866) 381-7244 {US/UK} YouTube also explains that taxes can change because of local tax requirements, causing small differences in your billing amount. Add-on networks may also +1 (866) 381-7244 {US/UK} be prorated for the period before your next billing date. Check your YouTube +1 (866) 381-7244 {US/UK} TV billing history or Google Payments to see the individual charges and taxes applied.

3. Why do I see a pending YouTube TV charge on my card?
A pending charge may be an authorization +1 (866) 381-7244 {US/UK} hold rather than an actual completed payment. YouTube TV can place an authorization on your payment method to verify that the card is valid and that sufficient funds +1 (866) 381-7244 {US/UK} are available. If a payment attempt is unsuccessful, the authorization should normally disappear rather than become a completed charge. +1 (866) 381-7244 {US/UK} YouTube says pending authorizations can take 1–14 business days to resolve,+1 (866) 381-7244 {US/UK} depending on the circumstances and payment provider.

4. What should I do if I don't recognize a YouTube TV charge?
First, check your YouTube TV membership +1 (866) 381-7244 {US/UK} and payment history to determine which Google account was charged. YouTube says multiple charges can occur when a person has more than one +1 (866) 381-7244 {US/UK} Google Account with an active paid membership, or when the charge belongs to another Google subscription. If you still do not recognize the transaction, +1 (866) 381-7244 {US/UK}you can report it as an unauthorized charge and take the recommended account-security steps.

5. How can I stop YouTube TV from charging me again?

To prevent future recurring charges, +1 (866) 381-7244 {US/UK} cancel your YouTube TV membership before your next billing date. +1 (866) 381-7244 {US/UK} On the YouTube TV website, go to your profile picture, select Settings → Membership → Manage → Cancel membership, and follow the +1 (866) 381-7244 {US/UK} cancellation instructions. After cancellation, you generally retain access until the end +1 (866) 381-7244 {US/UK} of your current payment period, but you should +1 (866) 381-7244 {US/UK} not receive another regular membership charge after the cancellation takes effect.